You made it.

Today is the last day of your midterm review challenge.

As I’ve said often, the best way to study is to ensure you can do ALL problems off of your previous tests & quizzes.
DO THEM, DON’T JUST LOOK AT THEM.

For today’s review,
Make a practice midterm of 30 questions. These questions should be questions that are directly off of your old tests and quizzes. Leave space for your answers. Make this practice test in pen.

Then move to a different location in your house or to the library, someplace quiet that is far, far away from your notes.

Take the practice test.

Return to your original location.

Check your answers. How did you do?

Take a picture of your practice test with all of your work and email it to me by midnight.

In fact, if you have not done so, email me a picture of each of your SIX Make a CHOICE Calculus Review Homeworks. Each homework is worth 1 point on your midterm so you can get up to 6 points.
If there is no work, you will get no credit.
